Explanation of Responses:

- The two reported transactions involved an anti-dilution adjustment of an outstanding warrant, resulting in the deemed cancellation of the "old" warrants and the deemed grant of a replacement warrant. The adjustment was necessary because the anti-dilution provision in the "old" warrant was triggered by a subsequent warrant issuance by the Issuer, resulting in a new exercise price and a change in the amount of shares underlying the warrants.
- This total includes 36,551 shares of common stock issuable upon the exercise of warrants as previously reported with the Securities and Exchange Commission on November 16, 2004.
